Article 2

Place, description and essential characteristics of the project

1. The object of the contract is the performance of a reconnaissance survey to determine the preferred route for the EuroAsia Interconnector
2. The EuroAsia Interconnector project involves the interconnection of the electrical systems of Israel, Cyprus, Crete and continental Greece (Attica), through a 400 kV underwater electric cable and any essential equipment and/or installation. When complete, the Interconnector will have a capacity in the order of 2000 MW and a total length of around 820 nautical miles (1.518 km) and allow for reverse transmission of electricity.

The project promoter of the EuroAsia Interconnector is DEH-Quantum Energy Ltd., a subsidiary of the Hellenic Public Power Corporation S.A. and Cyprus-based Quantum Energy Ltd. The interconnector project has been included in the list of Projects of Common Interest (PCI) of the European Community, as a cluster PCI 3.10 consisting of the following PCIs:

- PCI 3.10.1 - Interconnection between Hadera(IL) and Vasilikos(CY)
- PCI 3.10.2 - Interconnection between Vasilikos(CY) and Korakia, Crete (EL)
- PCI 3.10.3 - Internal line between Korakia, Crete(EL) and Attica region (EL)

The project is at its final design phase prior to the commencement of construction works.

In this context, the object of this invitation is to perform an appropriate bathymetric study (reconnaissance survey) to accurately determine the route of the interconnector cable along the seabed.

The Reconnaissance Survey will involve a more detailed desktop study integrated with a bathymetric reconnaissance survey to define and examine a route option for the EuroAsia Interconnector. The survey will establish and evaluate seabed topography and morphology and identify the potential geological features. Goals of this part of the action are to select the preferred route corridor, among those already pre-defined and to provide useful results for the cable engineering.

The Survey consists of a bathymetric investigation along the proposed route and a bathymetric investigation of the most critical areas from a bathy-morphological point of view; in these areas the vessel will survey wide blocks (block reconnaissance). Both route and block reconnaissance surveys will be carried out by means of hull mounted equipment such as MBES (Multibeam Echo Sounders).

Having analyzed the information available to date, 4 critical areas were identified:

- Area 1: Cyprus to Israel route: water depth 500 -2100 m
- Area 2: Cyprus to Crete route: water depth 150 -2100 m
- Area 3: Approach to Crete route: water depth 800 -2700 m
- Area 4: Approach to Crete route South Karpathos Island: water depth ranges between 200 and 1400 m.

The survey will include the acquisition, processing and interpretation of appropriate bathymetric data to establish seabed topography and morphology, with particular attention to the maximum depths and critical areas and to identify and map potential geological features that may have the potential to influence the routing, architecture, construction or operation of the proposed cable development.

The final deliverable of the study will be the Final Report that will provide useful data for the cable engineering and will contribute to the pre-engineering phase.

3. The place of delivery/ performance of the above shall be Cyprus as well as the Eastern Mediterranean Basin, between Israel, Cyprus, Crete and Attica.
